Special Opportunities Fund, Inc.

August 31, 2015

Dear Fellow Shareholders:

On June 30, 2015, the Fund's market price closed at $15.29 per share, down 0.52% from its closing price of $15.37 per share on December 31, 2014. For the same period, the S&P 500 Index gained 1.23%. The primary reason for the Fund's underperformance in the first half of 2015 was a widening of the discount of the stock price to net asset value from 9.27% to 11.21%. Since June 30th, our performance has improved relative to the Index, which has taken a hit after a long upward climb. That is not surprising since the Fund is designed to be more risk averse than a hypothetical investment in the S&P 500 Index (and is not strongly correlated with it).

We remind you that the Fund may purchase shares of its common stock when they are trading at a discount to net asset value. Moreover, on June 18, 2015, the Fund announced that it would no longer rely on the "safe harbor" provisions set forth in Rule 10b-18 of the Securities Exchange Act of 1934. From January 1, 2015 through August 28, 2015, 224,666 shares have been purchased.

On April 29, 2015, the Fund announced that it would seek instructions from stockholders with regard to the voting of proxies for certain closed-end funds whose shares the Fund owns. The specific closed-end funds for which the Fund seeks instructions from stockholders are available on the Fund's website at www.specialopportunitiesfundinc.com and we urge you to check the website from time to time if you would like to provide such instructions. Also, if you would like to receive an email notification to advise you of each closed-end fund for which the Fund seeks proxy voting instructions, please email us at proxyinstructions@bulldoginvestors.com.

We are bullish on the investments held by the Fund and the opportunities to enhance their value through activism. Here is an update on some of our larger positions.

In our last letter, we discussed our intention to conduct proxy contests this year for two closed-end funds that were trading at double-digit discounts to NAV: Clough Global Equity Fund (GLQ) and LMP Real Estate Income Fund (RIT). We were disappointed when we received lackluster support from shareholders of GLQ for our proposal to unlock shareholder value and we are evaluating our options including increasing our position or reducing it. To follow up on RIT, we conducted a contentious proxy battle in the spring which ended in a stalemate when a quorum was not reached at the annual meeting. We have increased our position since then and, as a result, we believe a liquidity event is highly likely in 2016 or even this year if we can reach a resolution with RIT's management, which is not guaranteed.

Special Opportunities Fund, Inc.

Our efforts to increase shareholder value at Deutsche High Income Opportunities Fund (DHG) and Deutsche Global High Income Fund (LBF) led to settlements with their boards, which have agreed to propose that stockholders vote to liquidate those funds in the next few years. Ordinarily, we would not agree to such a settlement and we would have preferred a shorter time to realize intrinsic value. However, in this case, we felt it was an acceptable tradeoff for eliminating the possibility of losing one or both proxy fights and having the discounts for these funds widen as a result.

Because we held a much stronger hand in Alliance New York Municipal Income Fund (AYN), we achieved an excellent outcome on our investment in the auction rate preferred shares, which we purchased at 84% of their liquidation value as well as the common shares, which we purchased at a discount to their NAV. The board of AYN, seeing the writing on the wall, unilaterally proposed a prompt liquidation. Consequently, we recently realized 100% of the intrinsic value of our preferred shares and we will realize 100% of the intrinsic value of our common shares by the end of the third quarter.

Lastly, our Fund is part of a group that owns about 7% of the shares of Global High Income Fund (GHI). We intend to discuss measures to enhance the value of our shares with representatives of GHI and are cautiously optimistic that they will seriously consider them. However, if we reach an impasse, we are likely to launch a proxy contest at the next annual meeting.

Aside from closed-end funds, we have also been busy seeking to unlock the intrinsic value of several operating companies.

Imperial Holdings (IFT) is a core investment of ours and we are represented on the board. Imperial owns a portfolio of life insurance policies with an aggregate face value of approximately $3 billion. Imperial's stock price is far below its book value and we are hopeful that the gap will narrow as it reduces its cost of capital and gets closer to achieving positive cash flow. Since Imperial's directors own a meaningful number of shares, they are likely to consider options to enhance shareholder value if a sizeable discount persists.

In our last letter, we noted that we intended to conduct a proxy contest for Stewart Information Services (STC), a provider of title insurance and other services in connection with real estate transactions. We reached a settlement with management that included us designating a director. Since then, Stewart's operational performance has improved, but more can be done to enhance shareholder value. While Stewart's stock has performed well since we started acquiring it, we think additional gains can be achieved through further improvement in profit margins and elimination of the dysfunctional dual class capital structure, which impedes Stewart's ability to pay a higher dividend. In addition, we believe Stewart would be an attractive acquisition target. We will continue to press management and the board to address these issues. Although we hope another proxy contest next year will be unnecessary, we cannot rule that out at this time.

Hill International (HIL) is a global construction management firm that we think is significantly undervalued primarily because the father-and-son team that started the business and own more than 20% of the outstanding stock, still treat it as if it were still the private company they used to own. For example, each of them has not just one — but two company cars. Clearly, Hill needs to implement corporate governance reforms to make management more accountable to the public shareholders.

Hill's stock price peaked at more than $19 per share in 2008. Fast-forward to early this year, when our group of funds purchased almost 5% of Hill's shares at prices mostly below $4 per share with an eye toward taking an activist stand. On May 4th, a private equity firm made an unsolicited offer to buy the company for at least $5.50 per share, a 40% premium to the last price. The board immediately rejected the offer, labeling it "grossly" inadequate and adopted a poison pill. We gave management notice of our intention to conduct a proxy contest to elect directors, dismantle the pill, and explore a sale of the company. Management claimed our notice was untimely. We then sued Hill and won an injunction to allow us to solicit proxies. Hill appealed and we won again. Faced with an almost certain loss at the August 7th annual meeting, management had to make last minute concessions to two major shareholders. Specifically, those shareholders will be permitted to designate two additional directors to represent the interests of the public shareholders. As we see it, management is on a short leash. There is nothing like having a guillotine over your head to focus your mind. Either the stock goes up over the next few months or the public shareholders will push for a sale of the company. Stay tuned!

Lastly, we have a sizeable investment in Winthrop Realty Trust (FUR), a real estate investment trust. We started purchasing shares of FUR in April 2014, shortly after it announced that it intended to liquidate its assets and distribute the net proceeds to shareholders. We were familiar with the company, its CEO and management team, and believed the ultimate liquidation value to shareholders would be materially higher than the prevailing market price of about $14 to $15 per share at the time. Therefore, we began purchasing shares. Since the plan of liquidation was approved by shareholders in August 2014, FUR has paid out a total of $3.50 per share. The current stock price is approximately $14.40 per share. We believe FUR still represents compelling value based upon our current estimate of its liquidation value.

Special Opportunities Fund, Inc.

In addition to the above investments, we are finding a number of other compelling opportunities, and we look forward to discussing some of them in future letters if and when we accumulate meaningful positions.

On behalf of the Fund's board and investment advisor, I would like to thank those shareholders that took the time to attend the informal shareholder meeting held in New York City on March 19, 2015 for a stimulating discussion. We are aware that the Fund is held by some very savvy investors and they did not disappoint us. They posed a number of probing questions about various topics, including our investment philosophy, our activist strategy, and some of our investments. They also gave us some thoughtful insights and helpful advice. Please let us if you would like to attend a similar meeting in the future.

Sincerely yours,

Past performance does not predict future performance. The return and value of an investment will fluctuate so that an investor's share, when sold, may be worth more or less than their original cost. The Fund's common stock net asset value ("NAV") return assumes, for illustration only, that dividends and other distributions, if any, were reinvested at the NAV on payable dates for dividends and other distributions payable through December 31, 2009 and reinvested at the NAV on the ex-dividend date for dividends and other distributions payable after December 31, 2009. The Fund's common stock market price returns assume that all dividends and other distributions, if any, were reinvested at prices obtained under the Fund's Dividend Reinvestment Plan (which was terminated on January 1, 2010) for dividends and other distributions payable through December 31, 2009 and reinvested at the lower of the NAV or the closing market price on the ex-dividend date for dividends and other distributions payable after December 31, 2009. NAV and market price returns for the period of less than one year have not been annualized. Returns do not reflect the deduction of taxes that a shareholder could pay on Fund dividends and other distributions, if any, or the sale of Fund shares.

* The Fund's investment objective and investment adviser have changed. See Note 1 of the Notes to financial statements for more information about the change in investment objective and see Note 2 of the Notes to financial statements for more information about the change in investment adviser. On January 25, 2010, the Fund began investing using its new investment objective, therefore, performance prior to that date is not relevant.

The S&P 500 Index is a capital weighted, unmanaged index that represents the aggregate market value of the common equity of 500 stocks primarily traded on the New York Stock Exchange.

- ⁽¹⁾ Calculated using the average shares method.
- ⁽²⁾ Recognition of investment income by the Fund is affected by the timing and declaration of dividends by the underlying investment companies in which the Fund invests.
- ⁽³⁾ Total net asset value return is calculated assuming a $10,000 purchase of common stock at the current net asset value on the first day of each period reported and a sale at the current net asset value on the last day of each period reported, and assuming reinvestment of dividends and other distributions at the net asset value on the ex-dividend date. Total investment return based on net asset value is hypothetical as investors can not purchase or sell Fund shares at net asset value but only at market prices. Returns do not reflect the deduction of taxes that a shareholder could pay on Fund dividends and other distributions, if any, or the sale of Fund shares.
- ⁽⁴⁾ Total market price return is calculated assuming a $10,000 purchase of common stock at the current market price on the first day of each period reported and a sale at the current market price on the last day of each period reported, and assuming reinvestment of dividends and other distributions to common shareholders on the ex-dividend date. Total investment return does not reflect brokerage commissions and has not been annualized for the period of less than one year. Returns do not reflect the deduction of taxes that a shareholder could pay on Fund dividends and other distributions, if any, or the sale of Fund shares.

Organization and significant accounting policies

Special Opportunities Fund, Inc. (formerly, Insured Municipal Income Fund Inc.) (the "Fund") was incorporated in Maryland on February 18, 1993, and is registered with the United States Securities and Exchange Commission ("SEC") under the Investment Company Act of 1940, as amended, as a closed-end diversified management investment company. Effective December 21, 2009, the Fund changed its name to the Special Opportunities Fund, Inc. and changed its investment objective to total return. There can be no assurance that the Fund's investment objective will be achieved. The Fund's previous investment objective was to achieve a high level of current income that was exempt from federal income tax, consistent with the preservation of capital.

The Fund is an investment company and accordingly follows the investment company accounting and reporting guidance of the Financial Accounting Standards Board (FASB) Accounting Standard Codification Topic 946 "Financial Services—Investment Companies".

In the normal course of business, the Fund may enter into contracts that contain a variety of representations or that provide indemnification for certain liabilities. The Fund's maximum exposure under these arrangements is unknown, as this would involve future claims that may be made against the Fund that have not yet occurred. However, the Fund has not had prior claims or losses pursuant to these contracts and expects the risk of loss to be remote.

The preparation of financial statements in accordance with Accounting Principles Generally Accepted in the United States of America requires the Fund's management to make estimates and assumptions that affect the reported amounts and disclosures in the financial statements. Actual results could differ from those estimates. The following is a summary of significant accounting policies:

Valuation of investments—The Fund calculates its net asset value based on the current market value for its portfolio securities. The Fund obtains market values for its securities from independent pricing sources and broker-dealers. Independent pricing sources may use last reported sale prices or if not available the most recent bid price, current market quotations or valuations from computerized "matrix" systems that derive values based on comparable securities. A matrix system incorporates parameters such as security quality, maturity and coupon, and/or research and evaluations by its staff, including review of broker-dealer market price quotations, if available, in determining the valuation of the portfolio securities. If a market value is not available from an independent pricing source or a broker-dealer for a particular security, that security is valued at fair value as determined in good faith by or under the direction of the Fund's Board of Directors (the "Board"). Various factors may be reviewed in order to make a good faith determination of a security's fair value. The auction rate preferred securities are valued at cost, unless other observable market events occur. The purchase price, or cost, of these securities is arrived at through an arms length transaction between a willing buyer and seller in the secondary market and is indicative of the value on the secondary market. Current transactions in similar securities in the marketplace are evaluated. Factors for other securities may include, but are not limited to, the type and cost of the security; contractual or legal restrictions on resale of the security; relevant financial or business developments of the issuer; actively traded similar or related securities; conversion or exchange rights on the security; related corporate actions; and changes in overall market conditions. If events occur that materially affect the value of securities between the close of trading in those securities and the close of regular trading on the New York Stock Exchange, the securities may be fair valued. The amortized cost method of valuation, which approximates market value, generally is used to value short-term debt instruments with sixty days or less remaining to maturity, unless the Board or its delegate determines that this does not represent fair value.

Special Opportunities Fund, Inc.

Notes to financial statements (unaudited)

The Fund has adopted fair valuation accounting standards that establish an authoritative definition of fair value and set out a hierarchy for measuring fair value. These standards require additional disclosures about the various input and valuation techniques used in measuring fair value. Fair value inputs are summarized in the three broad levels listed below:

Level 1—Unadjusted quoted prices in active markets for identical assets or liabilities that the Fund has the ability to access.

Level 2—Observable inputs other than quoted prices included in Level 1 that are observable for the asset or liability, either directly or indirectly. These inputs may include quoted prices for the identical instrument on an inactive market, prices for similar instruments, interest rates, prepayment speeds, credit risk, yield curves, default rates and similar data.

Level 3—Unobservable inputs for the asset or liability, to the extent relevant observable inputs are not available, representing the Fund's own assumptions about the assumptions a market participant would use in valuing the asset or liability, and would be based on the best information available.

The availability of observable inputs can vary from security to security and is affected by a wide variety of factors, including, for example, the type of security, whether the security is new and not yet established in the marketplace, the liquidity of markets, and other characteristics particular to the security. To the extent that valuation is based on models or inputs that are less observable or unobservable in the market, the determination of fair value requires more judgment. Accordingly, the degree of judgment exercised in determining fair value is greatest for instruments categorized in Level 3.

Special Opportunities Fund, Inc.

Notes to financial statements (unaudited)

The inputs used to measure fair value may fall into different levels of the fair value hierarchy. In such cases, for disclosure purposes, the level in the fair value hierarchy within which the fair value measurement falls in its entirety, is determined based on the lowest level input that is significant to the fair value measurement in its entirety.

The significant unobservable inputs used in the fair value measurement of the Fund's Level 3 investments are listed in the table on page 27. Significant changes in any of these inputs in isolation may result in a change in fair value measurement.

In accordance with procedures established by the Fund's Board of Directors, the Adviser shall initially value non-publicly-traded securities (for which a current market value is not readily available) at their acquisition cost less related expenses, where identifiable, unless and until the Adviser determines that such value does not represent fair value.

The Adviser sends a memorandum to the Chairman of the Valuation Committee with respect to any non-publicly-traded positions that are valued using a method other than cost detailing the reason, factors considered, and impact on the Fund's NAV. If the Chairman determines that such fair valuation(s) require the involvement of the Valuation Committee, a special meeting of the Valuation Committee is called as soon as practicable to discuss such fair valuation(s). The Valuation Committee of the Board consists of at least two non-interested Directors, as defined by the Investment Company Act of 1940.

In addition to special meetings, the Valuation Committee meets prior to each regular quarterly Board meeting. At each quarterly meeting, the Adviser delivers a written report (the "Quarterly Report") regarding any recommendations of fair valuation during the past quarter, including fair valuations which have not changed. The Valuation Committee reviews the Quarterly Report, discusses the valuation of the fair valued securities with appropriate levels of representatives from the Adviser's management, and approves the valuation of fair valued securities.

The Valuation Committee also reviews other interim reports as necessary.

The following is a summary of the fair valuations according to the inputs used as of June 30, 2015 in valuing the Fund's investments:

The following table presents additional information about valuation methodologies and inputs used for investments that are measured at fair value and categorized within Level 3 as of June 30, 2015:

	Fair Value June 30, 2015	Valuation Methodologies	Unobservable Input ⁽¹⁾	Impact to Valuation from an increase in Input ⁽²⁾
Auction Rate Preferred Securities	$3,780,000	Market Comparables/Cost	Comparability Adjustments/Broker Indications/Company Announcements	Increase
Preferred Stocks	$5,848,744	Cost	Market Assessments/Financial Assessments	Increase
Common Stocks	$ 166,900	Market Transactions Approach	Discount to Market Price for Share Restrictions	Decrease
Liquidation Claims	$2,803,497	Market Transactions Approach	Broker Bids	Increase
Promissory Notes	$1,400,000	Cost	Terms of the Note/Financial Assessments/Company Announcements	Increase
Warrants	$ 65	Market Transactions Approach	Discount to Market Price for Share Restrictions	Decrease

⁽²⁾ This column represents the directional change in the fair value of the Level 3 investments that would result from an increase to the corresponding unobservable input. A decrease to the unobservable input would have the opposite effect.

Short sales—The Fund is authorized to make short sales. Short sales are transactions where a fund sells securities it does not own in anticipation of a decline in the value of the securities.

Short sales carry risks of loss if the price of the security sold short increases after the sale. In this situation, when a fund replaces the borrowed security by buying the security in the securities market, the fund may pay more for the security than it has received from the purchaser in the short sale. The fund may, however, profit from a change in the value of the security sold short, if the price decreased.

Special Opportunities Fund, Inc.

Notes to financial statements (unaudited)

As collateral for its short positions, the Fund is required under the 1940 Act to maintain segregated assets consisting of cash, cash equivalents, or liquid securities. The amount of segregated assets are required to be adjusted daily to the extent additional collateral is required based on the change in fair value of the securities sold short.

Concentration risk—The Fund invested 2.11% of its net assets in auction rate preferred securities as of June 30, 2015. An active market for auction rate preferred securities does not exist. There is no guarantee that the Fund could receive the fair value price for these securities if it tried to sell them in the secondary market.

Investment transactions and investment income—Investment transactions are recorded on the trade date. Realized gains and losses from investment transactions are calculated using the identified cost method. Dividend income is recorded on the ex-dividend date. Interest income is recorded on an accrual basis. Discounts are accreted and premiums are amortized using the effective yield method as adjustments to interest income and the identified cost of investments.

Dividends and distributions—Dividends to Common Stockholders from net investment income and distributions of net realized capital gains, if any, will be declared and paid at least annually. Dividends and distributions to common shareholders are recorded on the ex-dividend date. The amount of dividends from net investment income and distributions from net realized capital gains was determined in accordance with federal income tax regulations, which may differ from U.S. generally accepted accounting principles. These “book/tax” differences are either considered temporary or permanent in nature. To the extent these differences are permanent in nature, such amounts are reclassified within the capital accounts based on their federal tax-basis treatment; temporary differences do not require reclassification.

Therefore, no provision for federal income taxes or excise taxes has been made.

In order to avoid imposition of the excise tax applicable to regulated investment companies, the Fund intends to declare each year as dividends in each calendar year at least 98.0% of its net investment income (earned during the calendar year) and 98.2% of its net realized capital gains (earned during the twelve months ended October 31) plus undistributed amounts, if any, from prior years.

Net capital losses incurred after October 31, and within the taxable year are deemed to arise on the first business day of the Fund's next taxable year. At December 31, 2014, the Fund had no post October losses.

At December 31, 2014, the Fund did not have capital loss carryforwards.

The Fund recognizes the tax benefits of uncertain tax positions only where the position is "more likely than not" to be sustained assuming examination by tax authorities. Management has analyzed the Fund's tax positions, and has concluded that no liability for unrecognized tax benefits should be recorded related to uncertain tax positions taken on returns filed for open tax years (2010-2013), or expected to be taken in the Fund's 2014 tax returns. The Fund identifies its major tax jurisdictions as U.S. Federal and the State of Maryland; however the Fund is not aware of any tax positions for which it is reasonably possible that the total amounts of unrecognized tax benefits will change materially in the next twelve months.

Note 6

Subsequent events

In preparing these financial statements, management has evaluated events and transactions for potential recognition or disclosure resulting from subsequent events through the date the financial statements were available to be issued. Management has determined that there were no subsequent events that would need to be disclosed in the Fund's financial statements.
